

JAPANESE TAKE PORT ARTHUR

STOESSEL IS READY TO SURRENDER

Finds Further Resistance Useless and Asks Terms for Capitulation.

TOKIO, January 2.—General Nogi reports as follows:
“At 5 in the afternoon of January 1 the enemy's bearer of a flag of truce came into the first line of our position south of Shuishi Ying and handed a letter to our officers. The same reached me at 9 o'clock at night. The letter is as follows:
“Judging by the general condition of the whole line of hostile positions held by you I find further resistance at Port Arthur useless and for the purpose of preventing needless sacrifice of lives I propose to hold negotiations with reference to capitulation. Should you consent to the same you will please appoint commissioners for discussing the order and conditions regarding capitulation and also appoint a place for such commissioners to meet the same appointed by me.
“I take this opportunity to convey to your excellency assurances of my respect.
(Signed) “STOESSEL.”

“Shortly after dawn to-day I will dispatch our bearer of a flag of truce with the following reply addressed to Stoessel:
“I have the honor to reply to your proposal to hold negotiations regarding the conditions and order of capitulation. For this purpose I have appointed as commissioner Major-General Ijichi, chief of staff of our army. He will be accompanied by some staff officers and civil officials. They will meet your commissioners January 2, noon, at Shuishi Ying. The commissioners of both parties will be empowered to sign a convention or the capitulation without waiting for ratification and cause the same to take immediate effect. Authorization for such plenary powers shall be signed by the highest officer of both the negotiating parties and the same shall be exchanged by the representative commissioners.
“I avail myself of this opportunity to convey to your excellency assurances of my respect.
(Signed) “NOGI.”

NOGI ACCEPTS TERMS

LONDON—
Jan. 2, 2:05 p. m.—A dispatch to the Japanese legation from Tokio says Gen. Stoessel's proposals for the surrender of Port Arthur have been accepted by Gen. Nogi.

MAY MARCH OUT WITH THEIR ARMS

Terms to be Given by the Japanese Will be of Most Magnanimous Character.

Port Arthur has surrendered. Exhausted by months of almost constant fighting, decimated by disease and casualties and hopelessly sealed in its rocky fortress, the gallant garrison has yielded to its gallant besiegers and the end is now written to one of the most dramatic war incidents of modern times.
At 9 o'clock last night Gen. Nogi, commanding the Japanese army of invasion, received from General Stoessel a note saying that he found further resistance useless, asking for a meeting to arrange terms of capitulation.
The note was simple and direct and the Japanese general immediately named commissioners to confer with the representatives of the Russian commander. They met at noon to arrange terms of surrender.
The nature of the terms agreed upon is not yet known, but dispatches from Tokio indicate that they will be of the most magnanimous character.

of superb recklessness and big ships have ploughed through mine fields with heroic disregard to give battle or in wild efforts to escape. By land the Japanese have hurled themselves against positions declared to be impregnable. They have faced and scaled rocky heights crowned with batteries and crowned with defenders, suffering losses that military experts say would have appalled any European army.
In the doomed fortress its people have lived under a devastating rain of shell and shrapnel. On scanty rations, besieged on every side, knowing that hope of succor or escape was vain, the garrison has fought with a stubbornness that has evoked the admiration of the world. They met the untiring assaults of the Japanese with a grim valor that won even the praise of their foe, and the fighting has been waged with a relentlessness that often refused truces to bury the dead and collect the wounded.
Over corpse-filled trenches men have fought hand-to-hand with cold steel and clubbed guns and at short range have hurled at each other hand grenades filled with high explosives. The whole story is one of undaunted courage and sublime bravery.
What Port Arthur has cost in human life and in money no estimate of even approximate correctness can be made.
The losses have been appalling. It has been reported that in some engagements leading up to the recent capture of 203-Meter hill, the attacking force lost as high as 40 per cent of the force engaged, while the garrison's losses, of which no word has come, must have been frightful.
The defense of the position, which fell to her as a heritage after the Japanese-Chinese war has cost Russia practically her entire fleet in these waters. Her ships lie from Port Arthur's inner basin to Chemulpo, in Korea, and along the Shantung peninsula, battered hulks of once proud vessels, or ignominiously dismantled, are interned in neutral Chinese harbors.
Save the three or four cruisers and some lesser craft that lie in the ice-bound refuge of Vladivostok, not a warship now flies the Russian cross in the waters of the Northern Ocean. And Japan, too, has had her losses in the long drawn-out operations. Mines have struck from Admiral Togo's fleet list many fine ships and war vessels since the morning of February 8, when he hurled the Russian's ships in Port Arthur's

PATRONAGE WILL BE THE SAME

Senators Decide Not to Cut Down the Amount.

SACRAMENTO, January 2.—That there will be no reduction in patronage during the present session of the Legislature, at least as far as the Senate is concerned, was decided this morning when the Senators in caucus voted to leave the amount at $20.
Senator Leavitt of Alameda was made chairman of the caucus and Senator Bauer of San Francisco, secretary.
A motion by Senator French that Senator Bunkers, the Union Labor representative from San Francisco, be admitted to the caucus was laid over until the next meeting of the caucus to be called tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.
Senator Edward Wolfe of San Francisco, was nominated by Senator Hahn for President pro tem, of the Senate and he was unanimously elected for

The Emperor of Japan himself through the Chief Imperial Staff, has given publicly his expression that “General Stoessel has rendered commendable service to his country in the midst of difficulties,” and that it is his wish “that military honors be shown him.”
A dispatch from Tokio quotes military opinion as believing that the entire garrison will be allowed to march out under arms and may be sent to Russia on parole.
Late dispatches from Japan have shown that the gallant defense of Stoessel and his men has nowhere been given a finer appreciation than in the land of his foes and it is more than likely that Japan will embrace the opportunity to show her magnanimity and admiration of gallantry of Port Arthur's defenders by allowing them all the honors which war permits a victorious army to bestow upon the vanquished.
The siege and the defense of Russia's stronghold in the Far East have been marked by bravery, gallantry and desperation unequalled in modern warfare and hardly excelled in military history. The story of the operations around Port Arthur is one of repeated fighting, both by land and sea, of the most desperate and thrilling character.
Isolated instances of heroism that would have set the world ringing under less overwhelming circumstances have been dwarfed by the general magnificent conduct of both forces.
By sea there have been torpedo-boat dashes

SACRIFICE OF LIFE AT RUSSIA'S WOUNDED LEAVE RUSSIANS WHITE FLAG GOES UP AT FORTRESS ENDED PORT ARTHUR.

GENERAL NOGI.

Japanese Legation at Washington is Pleased With News From the Front.

LONDON, January 2.—At noon the Japanese legation received an official communication from Tokio repeating the information given out eight hours previous in the Associated Press dispatches from Tokio as to Lieutenant General Stoessel's overtures for capitulation.

This official communication disposes of the definite announcement of surrender prematurely published in London by one English and one American agency. No doubt, however, is entertained in competent quarters that terms will be arranged and that the Japanese will soon be in effective occupation of Port Arthur, the magnificent defense of which is the subject of eulogy on all sides.

At the Japanese legation it was said that the negotiations over the terms of surrender might entail considerable communication with Tokio and possibly prolong the negotiations until Tuesday or even Wednesday, but there was little disposition to doubt that an agreement would be reached. Minister Hayashi expressed relief at the fact that the sacrifice of life of the present garrison and the besiegers was about to be ended. The fall of the fortress, the minister added, would mark the close of an important phase of the war and release a large number of troops which would be available for the reinforcement of Field Marshal Oyama, but Baron Hayashi was not in a position to say that the surrender would have any definite, immediate influence in the direction of terminating the war. As to mediation, the minister reiterated that he knew of no attempts in that direction.

"The legation," continued Baron Hayashi, "has nothing confirmatory of the reports of a definite surrender but our information goes to show that the surrender of the great fortress is imminent. The terms of surrender, of course, come within the province of the generals, but it is very unlikely that Russian troops still at Port Arthur who are believed to be nearly 20,000, will be able to reinforce."

and reiterated:

"It will at any rate end the terrible slaughter there and I sincerely hope it may in some way expedite final peace. This depends upon Russia and not upon us. It may strengthen the determination of Russia to continue the war at all costs. Its effect on Japan, however, cannot be doubted. Our fleet is free and the release of the besieging army gives us increased forces available for service elsewhere. Our base becomes more secure than ever."

Baron Hayashi paid a tribute to General Stoessel, saying:

"The surrender will in no way affect the glory belonging to him and his men nor our admiration for their splendid defense."

Baron Suyematsu, son-in-law of Marquis Ito and former Japanese Minister of the Interior, who is now in this city, was asked what effect the fall of Port Arthur was likely to have on the future course of the war and remarked that so long as Russia failed to give way there could be no termination of hostilities.

The text of General Nogi's message as received at the legation, confirms the Associated Press earlier Tokio advices as follows:

"General Stoessel's proposal was accepted. The terms and process of surrender are to be negotiated between the respective delegates at noon January 2d."

RUSSIAN SHIPS AT ANCHOR

ONE DIVISION OF THE SECOND SQUADRON ARRIVES AT TAMATAVE.

TAMATAVE, Madagascar, January 2.—Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky's division of the Russian Second Pacific Squadron, consisting of five battleships, two cruisers, the transports Kamtchatka and Anadyr, and the hospital ship, the hospital ship, anchored in the roadstead.

Many Steal Away at Night—Japanese Die in Doves Fighting For Victory.

CHEE FOO, January 2.—Besides the torpedo boat destroyers Skory, Strati, Vlastni and Serdity, which reached here yesterday from Port Arthur, two other destroyers, the Smely and Bolki, accompanied by a transport, left Port Arthur last night carrying 800 wounded soldiers.

The departure of these war vessels was determined upon at the Council of War which decided to negotiate for the surrender of the fortress. Admiral Wiren asked General Stoessel's permission to save the ships and this was readily granted. The ships crept out between 6 and 11 o'clock at night without encountering any Japanese war vessels. The officers of the destroyers decided to disarm them and the quartet of war vessels were lashed together. In the absence of a Chinese warship, the commissioner of customs took charge of them.

The Taotal has ordered the crews of the destroyers, including a number of invalid soldiers on board, to go to the Chinese fort where quarters for them are available. Tonight customs officials are guarding the destroyers and are not permitting foreigners to go on board them.

The Russian officers have only a single word for what the fortress has been in the past five days, during which the Japanese have bombarded and assaulted ceaselessly night and day. They use that word not profanely but convincingly, declaring that the horrors they have witnessed are beyond description.

They say that there has not been a single spot in the town safe from the shrapnel fire.

Many of the hospitals were hit and the wounded refused to remain in them. Some of the wounded lay in the cold streets on heaps of debris, while others staggered back to the front hurling stones and defying the Japanese until taken prisoners or until death came mercifully to them.

General Stoessel had boasted that he would fight to the last but Captain Karlov said that his plight last night looked like "The Last."

"There was no stopping these Japanese," said Captain Karlov, "who died in droves fighting with the last instinctive twitch of their nerves and with their eyes fixed on Liaot mountain."

Stoessel had killed a Japanese army, exhausting his ammunition, so up went the white flag.

There is a general disposition to be magnanimous in view of the garrison's marvelous defense.

The public has not been informed of the result of the meeting of the capitulation commissioners at noon today but it was believed today that the terms had already been agreed upon.

In military circles the opinion was expressed that the discussion covered only a few questions, including allow-

EVACUATE FORTS

Explosion is Followed by a Fierce Rifle Fire.

TOKIO, January 2.—A dispatch from the Japanese army before Port Arthur received at noon today says:

"The enemy's forces occupying Keekwan mountain and 'Q' fort following an explosion at 12:30 this morning opened a sudden and fierce rifle fire which suddenly stopped. Our scouts were dispatched to the scene and immediately afterward found the enemy evacuating these places. Our forces immediately occupied these two forts and also the heights known as 'M' and 'N' south of the forts. This morning almost all the enemy's ships, large and small, were blown up in the entrance and inside the harbor. Our offensive movements have been suspended pending the negotiations."

BLOCKADE LINES ARE DEFINED

Ships Must Have Special Permission to Enter Talienwan.

WASHINGTON, January 2.—The Japanese legation today gave out a dispatch from Tokio announcing that by Imperial command Admiral Togo on January 1 had defined the extent of the blockade of the Liao Tung peninsula.

Admiral Togo's order describes that the blockade of Liao Tung peninsula shall only be maintained hereafter on the coast lying westward of a straight line drawn from South Entry Point to Wedge Head. The Imperial government has decided not to allow for the present any ships except those on their service to enter Talienwan without special permission of naval or military authorities concerned.

The legation advices added that the Russians blew up Tungkeewanshan and "Q" forts and confirm the press dispatches of the occupation by the Japanese of the same forts and heights "N" and "M" of the blowing up by the Russians of almost all their ships in the harbor entrance and the hostilities had been suspended pending the conclusion of the negotiations for the Russian surrender.

SURRENDER A SURPRISE

HOW THE NEWS OF THE FALL OF FORTRESS WAS RECEIVED IN PARIS.

PARIS, January 2.—The reports of the negotiations for the surrender of Port Arthur came as a surprise while the holiday celebrations were going on and all public and private business was suspended.

The Japanese legation was the first to receive official confirmation of the report that General Stoessel had asked for terms.

The Foreign Office was not advised. The news traveled rapidly and was widely discussed at the various official and domestic negotiations.

WHITE FLAG GOES UP AT PORT ARTHUR.

GENERAL STOESSEL.

Russians Held Council of War and Decide to Give Up the Fight.

CHEE FOO, January 2.—General Stoessel hoisted the white flag yesterday and proposed to General Nogi that negotiations should be entered into for the surrender of Port Arthur.

With the ammunition exhausted in the northern and eastern forts; with only 500 convalescents and able-bodied men available for resistance and with 15,000 wounded men overflowing into the streets from the shattered hospitals, General Stoessel decided to call a council of war, at which Admiral Wiren was present. Amidst the shells that rained ceaselessly, leaving no part of the town safe, the solemn and worn-out officers looked their fate in the eyes.

According to one who saw the historic meeting, its pathos was profound.

More than one voice was choked with sobs. An agreement was soon reached.

The terms which the council of war decided to accept were the honorable or otherwise the garrison would die fighting.

This was the sentiment generally expressed by those present at the council. Then orders flew quickly. Soon two great explosions occurred in two forts near the railway, which, having no ammunition, had been destroyed by the Russians.

The remnant of the garrison which had retreated was now prepared to fight to the last in the harbor forts, where all available stores had been collected, unless the terms offered by General Nogi should prove to be generous.

Although General Nogi had not occupied all the northern forts last night the general opinion among the Russians was that their occupation by the Japanese would be merely a matter of assaulting them.

Rihlung fort fell only when the ammunition there had been exhausted and the garrison almost to a man had died fighting with bayonets and their rifles used as clubs.

This and much other information reached Che Foo today when the Russian torpedo boat destroyers Skory, Strati, Serdity and Vlastni crept close into the harbor under cover of a fog. The Russian ships were thronged all day but only bit by bit did the story of the true directness of the situation at Port Arthur come from the officers.

An officer admitted the truth of the Japanese report.

JAPANESE MAKE DEMONSTRATION

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS LIKELY TO OCCUR TO-NIGHT.

CHE FOO, January 2, 4:30 p. m.—Three Japanese torpedo boat destroyers, after entering the harbor and making a demonstration, joined other Japanese warships waiting outside. The opinion is general that interesting developments are likely to occur tonight.

CONVICTS LAID IN THE GRAVE

Brave Guard Jolly is on the Road to Recovery.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 31.—Dr. C. F. Gladding, the physician at the Folsom State Prison, stated today that Guard Jolly, who was dangerously wounded by being shot in the mouth in the break of convicts last Thursday, spent a quiet night and at present no fears of blood poisoning or other complications setting in are feared.

His recovery is practically assured. Captain Murphy is entirely out of danger but is still very sore from the wounds on his back made by the knife in the hands of convict Findley and by his fall on the iron comb.

He will be able to be out and around in a few days but will be lame until the wound in his thigh, in which eleven stitches were taken, heals.

"Rough-House" Kelly, whose left leg was amputated yesterday, is reported by Dr. Gladding as being in very critical condition, due to the shock of the operation and to the other wounds which he received.

The other wounded prisoners, Carson and Queyada, the former of whom had his leg shattered and the latter lost an arm, are reported as being in good condition and on a fair road to recovery.

The dead convicts were buried today in the prison grave yard.

A lump of soda laid up on the drain of the kitchen sink will prevent its becoming clogged with grease. If this should have already occurred, pour down very strong and quite boiling soda water the last thing at night. Some of this will remain in the upper part of the pipe, where it will do its cleansing work during the night and be swept away with the first flush of water in the morning.

PRESIDENT TAKES A WALK

Did Not Wait for Secret Service Men to Accompany Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, left the White House today and went for a walk down Pennsylvania avenue.

It is unusual for the President to appear walking on the business streets of the city; in fact so far as is known, this is the first time he has walked along Pennsylvania avenue since he entered the White House.

He frequently does, in fact, almost invariably, walk from the White House to church on Sundays, but even then he is accompanied by Secret Service officers who follow him discreetly at a short distance.

To-day, however, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt left the White House unaccompanied.

In a few minutes the officers learned of their departure from the house and a little while later located them on Pennsylvania avenue. President and Mrs. Roosevelt were recognized instantly and as they walked along the avenue were the recipients of marked and respectful attention.

LITTLE CHICO CREEK OVERFLOWS

WASHINGTON, December 31.—Assistant Secretary Darling of the Navy Department, who has direct supervision over the matter of labor employment in the various navy yards and stations, today issued an order that the existing scale of wages of mechanics and others shall be practically unchanged during the calendar year 1905. Strong efforts have been made to induce the department to change the scale, either for the benefit of the men or in the interests of economy.

BUILDING IN SOUTH.
LOS ANGELES, December 31.—According to the report of Building Superintendent Krause, the year just closing has exceeded all other years in the history of Los Angeles in building operations. The number of building permits issued during 1904 was 7090 against 6396 for 1903. The total cost of the improvements is $19,402,062.

WHY HALL WAS REMOVED

PORTLAND, Ore., December 31.—Advices from Washington that the President had removed District Attorney John T. Hall from office created profound surprise in this city. It came as the climax to rumors that have been heard upon the street and around the courthouse for several days.

It had been intimated that since the Grand Jury began its investigation Mr. Hall's name had figured to a greater or less extent and that trouble was probably ahead for him. That Mr. Heney had taken some action in reference to Hall and that Hall's name was withheld from being sent to the Senate for confirmation before the holiday adjournment of Congress by virtue of information furnished the Department of Justice by Mr. Heney had been suspected and seemed to bear confirmation when the announcement of Hall's removal was made from the national capital.

Ever since the fact became known that the President had not sent Mr. Hall's appointment to the Senate for confirmation there has been speculation as to the probable cause for the delay and it was then hinted that the reason was assignable to the land fraud investigations.

While the exact nature of the charges has not been made known, it is generally believed that they are in the character of shielding those supposed guilty people from indictment and prosecution for complicity in the frauds. There has been heard no direct intimation that the Federal District Attorney had been guilty of wrong.

MONEY IN THE VAULTS

LEGISLATURE WILL FIND $10,000,000 IN THE TREASURY.

SACRAMENTO, December 31.—When the Legislature meets here next Monday the members will find nearly $10,000,000 in the vaults of the State treasury with which to operate.

The approximate sum on hand at noon today was $9,231,062.92.

One-third of the money on hand is represented by school certificates, which are considered at the treasury as good as gold.

San Francisco today paid into the treasury her first installment of taxes, amounting to $2,248,419.29.

W. T. Kahler, a well known musician, composer and violinist, has fallen heir to a large fortune, bequeathed to him by Henry Alton, a Wall street millionaire. Mr. Alton, who died over a year ago, married a sister of Mr. Kahler's father in Illinois. Having no relatives or children living at the time of his death, he left a portion of his estate to Mr. Kahler's father in Illinois and the larger portion to Mr. Kahler. The estate is now being settled.

Yesterday Mr. Kahler received word from J. P. Leneham, a San Francisco attorney to the effect that he is also heir to another estate which is being settled in the East.

Mr. Kahler intends to invest his money in a local music publishing establishment.

STORM IN THE SOUTH

Wall of New Building Falls and Breaks Water Main.

LOS ANGELES, December 31.—Rain which commenced to fall in Los Angeles at 10 o'clock last night, continued intermittently until 10 o'clock this morning.

The total fall recorded here during that time is 1.69 inches, making the total for the season 3.59 inches. At San Luis Obispo 1.50 was recorded.

The rain also appeared general farther south. The benefit to growing crops will be great. Vegetation will be revived and plowing and the planting of crops can proceed. The necessity for irrigation of the fruit crop will be lessened and the crop greatly benefited.

Some damage was done throughout this city by the rain which fell heavily between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning.

The street superintendent estimates the damage to new streets, gutters and curbing at about $2000.

The east retaining wall of the new Billicke-Rowan $750,000 hotel, under course of construction at Fifth and Spring streets, caved in with the weight of the water-soaked earth, broke the water mains and flooded the excavation, doing damage to the extent of several thousand dollars. Other slight damage is reported at various points over the city.

MERCHANTS CLOSE THE YEAR

Lively Time at the Exchange in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 31.—That was a jolly lot of old dogs who raised pandemonium at the Merchants' Exchange this morning. It is the custom to do stunts on the last day of the year not in Roberts' Rules of Procedure, and today the brokers of the grain trade of the Merchants' Exchange outdid any previous effort. The celebration began unexpectedly early and by the time the "stall and conservative" element discovered what was going on the doors were locked—double locked—and about 100 members were caught in the trap. Flour bags were soon pouring their contents upon the shining bald heads, while firecrackers and huge bombs created a miniature Port Arthur. The windows had been securely fastened and the doors resisted all efforts to swing on their hinges.

Men who haven't danced for a score of years danced then to the music of bursting bombs. Men who haven't indulged in anything more frivolous than a "smile" for twelve months threw their hats in the air and joined in the frolic that has become an annual institution.

Seeing the old year out was never so joyously done before by the brokers. It was accompanied by the fact that the Exchange will shortly be removed to its new quarters and the old board rooms will never again witness such a scene.

The commotion attracted several hundred people to the vicinity and many in the crowd which blocked the street fared badly at the hands of the bag-wielders. The chief conspirators in the melee were Billy Burg, William Biehr, Emil Waterman, Leo Rosenthal, Ed Cutter, Moseley and Bresse.

The Exchange will remove to its new quarters early next month.

FALLS TO FLOOR IN A FAINT.

Mrs. Chadwick Overcome When She Hears of Husband's Arrest.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, December 31.—With tears streaming down her face and wringing her hands in nervous excitement, Mrs. Chadwick today fainted in the corridor of the county jail to the reading of the Associated Press dispatches, telling of the scenes enacted aboard the steamer Pretoria, incidental to the taking into custody of her husband, Dr. Chadwick, by Sheriff Barry.

Mrs. Chadwick was unable to control her feelings and interrupted the reading of the dispatches with almost every word with some comment.

"Oh, my poor husband," she exclaimed between her sobs. "To think that he must be dragged into these terrible charges against me. He is innocent of any wrong doing."

For a moment the woman continued her rapid walk up and down the narrow confines of the corridor. Then she suddenly stopped and tottered and, throwing up her arms, fell to the floor in a faint. She was carried to a cot by the jail attendants and later became more calm. Mrs. Chadwick requested that her son, Emil Hoover, and her nurse, Freda, be sent for and they soon arrived and were admitted.

SYMPATHY FOR ACCUSED MEN

NAPA, Dec. 31.—In spite of the inflammatory newspaper accounts of the killing of patient Joseph R. Louis at the State Hospital for the Insane, there are many people here who have great sympathy for T. D. Shanahan and Oscar Retzuan, the two attendants charged with the murder.

A great crowd, composed chiefly of the friends of the accused, attended the session of the court, when Shanahan and Retzuan were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Among the spectators were many who, while they deprecated undue violence in handling insane patients, said that there were extenuating circumstances in this case that should in some sort shield the accused from the indignation of the public. These persons said that Louis was known as a most dangerous man and they expressed the belief that he had made a vicious assault upon Shanahan and Retzuan as they entered his cell. They fought him with whatever weapons they could lay hand on and inflicted injuries that caused his death. None of the accused men will discuss the matter.

On Tuesday next the court will set a day for the preliminary examination of the defendants.

Tearing the Bible to Pieces.

Rev. Lyman Abbott, who occupies the pulpit in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, made famous by Henry Ward Beecher, has a fashion of amending his creed at intervals and of expurgating the Bible to meet the exigencies of his changing beliefs. While no one has a right to dispute the privilege he enjoys of believing what he chooses, his right to declare some parts of the Bible inspired and other parts mere historical or traditional narrative will not be so readily conceded. There are still those who reverence the Bible as a whole as an inspired book. Such will refuse to allow any person to say of one chapter, "This is revelation," and of another, "This is fable, legend or historical narrative."

Dr. Abbott's latest deliverance is a practical abjuration of revealed religion and a rejection of the Scriptures as inspired of God. Apparently he is halting between pantheism and nature worship. He ascribes the Ten Commandments to an entirely human origin, saying:

"The Ten Commandments did not spring spontaneously from Moses, but were, like all laws, a gradual growth; and that man is a creature of evolution, not a creation."

"I believe in a God who is in and through and of everything—not an absentee God, whom we have to reach through a Bible or priest or some other outside aid, but a God who is closer to us than hands or feet."

"There is only one energy. That energy has always been working. It is an intelligent energy. No scientist can deny it."

"My God is a great and ever-present force, which is manifest in all the activities of man and all the workings of nature."

The New York Sun points out that this expresses precisely the sentiments for which Tom Paine was execrated by the Christian world, and the Sacramento Bee, whose editor is widely familiar with spiritual matters, says, "Dr. Lyman Abbott preaches Tom Paine while still holding forth as a minister of the God he has rejected, of the Christ he declines to know."

Now comes the Fresno Republican, the editor of which is a Christian of the old red sandstone period, with the following defense of Dr. Abbott:

"The New York Sun brings the deadly parallel to bear on Rev. Lyman Abbott, by quoting his identical arguments from Tom Paine. The parallel is exact, and yet false. There is all the difference that separates the eighteenth from the twentieth centuries in these two apparently identical formulations of the same doctrine. Paine, in the eighteenth century, attacked certain orthodox doctrines in the name of infidelity. Abbott, in the twentieth century, makes the same attack, on the same doctrines, but makes it in the name of religion."

We do not see that it betters matters for the Bible to be knocked to pieces in the name of religion. An infidel does no worse. If every man is at liberty to pull the Scriptures apart and accept that as true which pleases him and reject that as false which displeases him, there is an end to dogma, to faith, to creeds and all formulas of worship. The Christian world has borne leniently with those inquiring Christians of the modern critical school who have stuck their tongues out at Jonah's whale and Joshua's horn, but declaring that the Ten Commandments were not given to Moses by inspiration or even framed by that law-giver is another matter entirely. A Presbyterian minister recently declared his disbelief in the Immaculate Conception, but has been allowed to hold his pulpit on condition that he does not preach his belief on that point. It is needless to say that this preacher and Dr. Abbott are in accord in respect to reducing the Testaments to a literary scrap-heap from which any sort of crazy quilt religion may be patched up.

The Siege of Port Arthur

One of the most memorable sieges in the annals of military history is about to end with the fall of Port Arthur. The devoted garrison has been reduced to the last extremity and is incapable of making successful resistance to the ceaseless assaults of the Japanese. A more stubborn and heroic defense was never made, and it is to the eternal shame of the St. Petersburg War Office that it has been made in vain or without effort at relief. The false hopes of relief continually telegraphed Stoessel ostensibly from the Czar were so many delusions held out to induce the garrison to make still greater sacrifices in defense of the fortress. The attack has been no less heroic than the defense. General Nogi has conducted the siege with such skill and persistence as to excite the admiration of the world. His troops have fought with a gallantry and resolution never surpassed in the history of modern warfare. They have exhibited a fortitude and a capacity for endurance that were not expected in the Japanese. Neither side at Port Arthur can claim superiority in obstinacy and valor.

Warden Yell deserves all praise for restoring discipline at Folsom Prison, both among subordinates and guards, but his imperative order to shoot when convicts are trying to escape regardless of the peril of officers and guards held captive is not a new departure. It was the rule at Folsom Prison long before he ever saw it, being an instruction that Charles Aull, for many years warden of Folsom, impressed on every officer, guard and employe. It was a rule that was obeyed implicitly, too, as was shown in the attempted break of 1893 when three desperate prisoners were killed and seven others wounded. The convicts captured Lieutenant of the Guard Frank Briare and used him as a shield, but the guards fired nevertheless. Only their coolness and accurate aim saved Briare from being shot to death. In giving credit to duty well performed in the present, let it not be forgotten that duty was as well performed in the past.

The Chronicle's Annual.

The San Francisco Chronicle's New Year's Annual was the finest number of the kind ever issued by that journal. It was not loaded up with cumbersome and wearisome details, but in crisp narrative form presented the story of the growth and development of California. Finer colored illustrations were never turned out of a daily newspaper in America, and as there was a profusion of them the Annual wore an air of gaiety that fits well with the holiday season of a prosperous period. The cuts were all original and artistically executed. This number of the Chronicle is a splendid advertisement of the State at large, and is a good thing to send East to persons desiring information about California.

Experts have been examining Mrs. Chadwick with a view to determining her sanity. Judging from the disclosures already made, the bankers who loaned her money are more in need of examination.

Mr. David Kinnir, the Christian gentleman, who is to be put to the indignity of a trial for the murder of Police Officer James H. Smith, has made an affidavit that the people of Alameda County are prejudiced against him. He is mistaken; they are only prejudiced against murder and robbery.

There has undoubtedly been a great deal of fraud in the Colorado election, but there is a strong suspicion in the public mind that the frauds are being used as a pretext for a still greater fraud. The Peabody regime seems disposed to stop at nothing in the effort to perpetuate itself. The manifestation of this disposition, in view of past performances, gives color to the belief that neither law nor justice will be allowed to stand in the way of the designs of the power behind Peabody. He is to be continued in the Governor's chair regardless of how the election went. A complaisant canvassing board and a pliant Supreme Court, together with the executive control, render it quite impossible to prevent a consummation previously decided on whether it be right or wrong.

HOLIDAY TRIBUNE.

Newspapers in Alameda County have signaled the holiday season by expending their best efforts upon extra editions typifying the march of progress and setting forth the triumphs of industry which have marked the year just passed.

Especially worthy of commendation is the excellent Christmas edition of fifty-two pages which the OAKLAND TRIBUNE has brought out. Besides giving in detail the signs of prosperity which mark the present growth of Oakland and its suburbs, the TRIBUNE impartially extends its survey to the whole of Alameda County and gives its neighbor, Contra Costa, a goodly share of space. Art work of a high class and half-tones, in the main excellently reproduced, make the TRIBUNE'S edition a notable piece of newspaper production.

That bright little sheet, the Alameda Argus, is not behindhand in enterprise. Its Christmas edition, well written and amply illustrated, gives a good boost to the island city. From the college town came the enlarged edition of the Berkeley Gazette, a creditable publication compiled to emphasize the spirit of the holidays, while at Niles the Washington Press and at Elmhurst the Review emulated with success the example of their urban contemporaries with colored supplements of ample proportions; so that Alameda County obtained a series of Christmas compliments upon which her people may well congratulate themselves.—San Francisco Call.

THE BOSTON KIPLING.

BY JAMES MONTAGUE.

What's this the Banker's readin'
In his private pull'n car?
What's this the copper's readin'
On his beat?
What's this the barkeep's readin'
As he leans across his bar?
What's this the kids is readin'
On the street?

They are readin' Tommy Lawson
Clear from Florida to Dawson;
They are drinkin' in his frenzied words of warnin'.
Maybe he's a busted broker,
Maybe he is just a joker,
But he'll be the Boston Kipling in the mornin'.

He ain't partic'lar anxious 'bout the people he may hit;
He ain't especial stingy of abuse;
He may love H. H. Rogers, but you wouldn't notice it,
From the observations that he's turnin' loose.

They are readin' Tommy Lawson
For the language he is tossin'
With smiles and metaphors adornin'
He's a style that's fierce and florid,
Off the bat an 'terse an 'torrid,
And he'll be the Boston Kipling in the mornin'.

He ain't afraid o' leaving reputations out to spoil.
He don't leave much of anything in doubt.
He says a bunch o' scoundrels navigate the Standard Oil,
As if he wasn't holdin' nothin' out.

An' they're readin' Tommy Lawson
From New York to Pawnee Crossin',
No billionaires his diatribes are scornin'.
They would give up most surprisin'
For his knack of advertisin',
An' he'll be the Boston Kipling in the mornin'.

They say that he's a mountebank, a wound-up talk machine—
A foolish, frenzied, flippant, fakin' fellow,
An' just because with envy they are turnin' green,
They paint him with that awful color—yellow.

But they're readin' Tommy Lawson
Clear from Florida to Dawson;
The public's lappin' up his words o' warnin'.
Granted that he's kind o' "yellow,"
He's an entertainin' fellow,
An' he'll be the Boston Kipling in the mornin'.

THE PURSUIT OF BEAUTY.

You must suffer to be beautiful, according to a French saying. There seems to be some truth in the statement, if a lady's maid is to be believed. She has revealed the secrets of her mistress's boudoir, or, rather, torture chamber. The lady herself is now beautiful, but one wonders that she is still alive. For months she lay flat on her back on the floor, motionless, with her arms close to her sides, during several hours every day. This was, it appears, to improve her figure. During the rest of the day, for the same period of time, she sat on a high stool giving and rocking the upper part of her body backward and forward and from side to side incessantly. By this process she is said to have acquired a statuesque throat and a sylph's waist. The lady's nose, having a soaring nature, was corrected and made Grecian by the constant application day and night for months of a spring bandage.

One nostril was originally larger than the other, so she wore a small sponge in it for a year. Her cheeks have been filled out and rounded by injections of paraffin. Her ears for months were compressed against the sides of her head by springs, while heavy weights were attached to the lobes to produce the required elongated shape, which has been successfully achieved. Having suffered this complicated martyrdom for a year, the lady, as already stated, is now beautiful.

Hints for the Ladies.

A small toque or a medium-sized hat of fine material, trimmed with a single good ostrich tip or some simple but uncommon bit of trimmings and simply made, is always the best for women of limited means.

The newest veil is called the "Melba," and looks more like an exquisite lace flounce than a veil. It is deep and wide and circular, and made most of chantilly lace, with its flat, silky mesh and graceful patterns.

A charming black chiffon velvet costume shows a narrow placement of sapphire blue velvet around the shoulders just below the yoke of point lace, which is not over two inches in depth. The stock is of this same exquisite lace.

A decided novelty is the turnover collar and cuffs of leather on wool shirt waists. The new raincoats and tailored suits exhibit other uses of leather in their lapels, collars, cuffs and waistcoats, which are promised even a more extensive vogue.

An odd and small toque is entirely in peacock-eye effects, the foundation being velvet and the crown covered with fine chenille embroideries, making the center of the peacock eyes. Polds of green and blue velvet, embroidered in smaller peacock eyes and laid in folds, form the soft brim and loosely plaited.

Instead of buttons one of the new bolero jackets of sable squirrel shows poppy-like rosettes of raspberry velvet. There's one each side of the neck and three each side the fronts from the bust line to the belt. A tiny ruffle of this velvet edges the bolero and is each side of the narrow cuffs, each of which is held by one of the rosettes.

Plaid silk waists are quite the thing this season, and do wonders in brightening up the mannish tailored suits so much worn. There are sober plaids combining greens and blues, and gay plaids showing immense squares of black and scarlet; in between enough variety to suit every taste. Most of these silks are made up in plain shirt-waist style.

All the new fur coats are braided and trimmed in various designs, in which braid plays a prominent part. Shirred ribbons, too, decorate the fur coats and the little furry accessories that make such a success of a similar toilet; and smart Hussar and Cosack braids and set pieces, which one may purchase separately and apply to the best advantage, appear on many of the costly sable and breitschwanz dolmans and paletots that are the choice of the wealthy for the winter season.

The Chancellor says Germany's navy is purely for defensive purposes, and remarks that "foreign countries must recognize themselves to the fact that the German merchant beyond the seas is no poorer the poverty-stricken creature who must content himself with picking up the crumbs from under the table. ### QUILL SAYS HE WAS DUPED

WHILE HANDLERS OF MILITARY WON FORTUNE, OWNER WAS OUT IN GOLD.

There is a queer mix-up over the possession of the race horse Military on whose winning a few days ago at 30 to 1 one of the biggest killings of the season was made. He is claimed by both J. Monaghan and D. J. Quill and is at present under attachment and the purse the horse won is hung up until the ownership is decided in the courts.

Along with the legal squabble is the charge made by Quill that he was given the 'hooks' by the men whom he supposed to be his friends. The story told by Quill is that he gave a Jew by the name of Gutta $100 to buy Military from Monaghan. After the deal had been made Monaghan employed by Quill and Gutta to train the horse and get him fit for a race. He was entered once or twice and scratched until a week ago last Saturday it was believed that he was "in right" and sent out to win by Gutta and Monaghan while Quill the owner, knew nothing of it.

Quill says he was out at the track and saw the odds go tumbling from 30 to 1 down to 20 and then lower. He went and saw Monaghan, who told him the horse might come second or third and thereupon played a few dollars on his entry. The play however continued strong and in with horses like Sugden, Dotterel, Dollie H. Young Marlow, Myrtle H. and a bunch of others he was played down on a heavy day from 30 to 1 to 8 to 1. Gutta is said to have won $7,200.

There were fifteen entries and Military got off sixth. At the half, however, he was running under wraps and leading the field. At the three-quarter he had a good length and a half between himself and the contender, Sugden and at the mile he came home an easy winner.

Then there was fire in Quill's eye. Fearing that Monaghan or Gutta might try to draw down the purse he ordered the payment of it stopped and then went to take the horse away from Gutta and Monaghan. They refused to give him up and Quill got out an attachment and the horse was taken by the sheriff and placed in a city stable.

In order to get the horse Monaghan then got bonds to the amount of $ and again he's him until the matter is finally adjudicated.

EYES GLEAM AT MAN ROBS BOY OF PURSE

JOHN MITCHELL IS POSSESSED OF A STRANGE VAGARY.

A pair of gleaming eyes haunt John Mitchell, a city park dweller, constantly. He sees them everywhere. The bill boards have them. In his cell at the city prison he sees them.

A peculiar part of his vagary is that he imagines these eyes are his own and that evil inclined persons are trying to put them out.

He was arrested yesterday on a suspicion of insanity and will be examined by the lunacy commission.

MRS. MILLER LOSES $15 BECAUSE OF ACCIDENTALLY DROPPING PURSE.

Mrs. M. K. Miller reports to the police that as she was boarding a Telegraph avenue car yesterday afternoon, she dropped her purse and was unable to recover it owing to the car starting. She got off the car at the next block and returned to where she dropped her purse. Here she saw a boy pick it up. A man driving in a buggy halted the boy and took the purse from him. He drove rapidly off and that was the last seen of the strange man. The purse contained $15.

Dr. A. S. Kelly returned to Oakland today after a week's hunting trip at his ranch in San Joaquin county. The doctor is much improved in health as a result of his short vacation.

ROBBED BY FOOTPADS

Masked Men Hold Up
Railroad Clerk, and Get His Salary.

BERKELEY, Jan. 2.—Another daring hold up has been added to the already long list of crimes of this sort perpetrated in the college town during the last month.

W. H. Bishop, a clerk in the freight offices of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in San Francisco, and a brother of "Biddy" Bishop, the prize fight manager, was made to "stand and deliver" by two masked men last Saturday night, as he was en route to his home on Mason street in South Berkeley.

The footpads secured about $80 from Bishop, this being the greater part of a month's salary he had just received. The railroad man took part in the New Year's eve revelry in San Francisco and started for his home across the bay about 11:30 o'clock.

He was alone when he left the train at the Ashby avenue station. A few blocks from the railroad, he met on Ashby avenue the two footpads who relieved him of the greater part of his month's salary.

"I thought they were joking, at first," said Bishop, "when they called to me to throw up my hands. I supposed probably they were New Year's eve roisters and I hurried on past them or tried to. They yelled again, however, and one grasped me, holding a pistol close to my face. They were masked, and from their nervousness I judge they were not veteran criminals. They did not touch my watch or any other article I wore, seeming to be content with the money they took from me. When they had taken the gold, they ordered me to walk fast for a block and not to turn around under penalty of being shot. I obeyed, and when I did turn around, they had disappeared. I telephoned in a few minutes to Marshal Kerns, and he began a search for them."

GIVEN

SOCIAL ORGANIZATION GIVES AFFAIR IN HONOR OF DUNLAP SMALLEY.

HAYWARDS, January 2.—A very pleasant dance occurred Friday evening at the Occidental Hall. It was given by the young ladies' club, "Ye Jolly Lassies," in honor of Dunlap Smalley, who left for Cordelia, Solano county, Saturday.

A pair of riding and roping experts, Ordway and Grunwell, performed feats in riding and bucking bronchos, and in throwing the lariat. Grunwell, who is handicapped with a wooden leg, rode the wildest horses brought with apparent ease. With a new lasso Ordway threw a top thirty feet through which his partner rode horseback before it collapsed. A large number of the nearby farmers attended the show, several bringing unbroken horses which were subdued by the cowboys.

GRIEVES FOR LOVER

Bertha Schumacher Prepares Her Wedding Trousseau in Vain.

BERKELEY, Jan. 2.—The joy that comes with love and anticipation of marriage has changed to sorrow for Miss Bertha Schumacher, whose fiancée, Henry Chamberlain, of Petaluma, failed to come and claim his bride-to-be at the time appointed. Miss Schumacher, who resided with her friends, Mrs. C. L. Jones at 2223 Channing Way had prepared her wedding trousseau, and none of the finery was lacking, but she was destined to bitter disappointment.

She was to have been married a fortnight ago to Henry Chamberlain, a prosperous man, with interests at Petaluma and Berkeley. The wedding ring had been purchased, the license procured and the minister engaged. While the happy bride-to-be waited expectantly for her lover's coming, he, for mysterious reasons, failed to appear.

CARELESS DISCHARGE OF PISTOLS IN ALAMEDA

New Year's Celebration Almost Ends

Career of an Alameda Fireman.

ALAMEDA, January 2.—Myron H. Fish, a member of the Alameda Fire Department, residing at the corner of Fountain street and Encinal avenue, had his house bombarded with bullets late New Year's Eve, and while under fire narrowly escaped being made an unwilling sacrifice to the celebration of the new year's advent. Fish heard a number of rapid shots in his vicinity and was appalled at the discovery, from the splintered wall of his sitting room, that several of the leaden missiles had crashed through his house. One of the bullets passed so close to his head that his hair rose from terror.

Fish started to run to the door, when two more bullets came through the window, scattering the shattered glass. Thoroughly alarmed and convinced that an attempt had been made on his life, he lost no time in telephoning to the police office that a madman with a wagon-load of guns was close to his home.

Officer Anderson was hurried to the scene, but he discovered that the reckless shooter was F. E. Green of 1205 Peach street. Green was adding to the list preceding the advent of the year 1905, and was making use of two six-shooters. In his enthusiasm he had overlooked the fact that the guns were loaded with bullets instead of blanks. Fish's language was represented by blanks when he recovered from his nervous prostration and learned how the heedlessness of Green came near perforating him and making the year past his last.

FIGHTING WEIGHT AND BRITT DISCUSSES PLANS OF GIANTS

PRESIDENT BRUSH SURE HIS BUNCH WILL CAPTURE THE PENNANT THIS SEASON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—John T. Bush, president of the New York Baseball Club, departed from his usual custom today and talked a great deal about the plans of the Giants for next year.

Although he did not say so directly, it could be plainly seen that Mr. Bush is confident that the Giants will again carry off the National League Championship next year.

By way of preliminary practice McGraw and the men will leave for Savannah early in March and do their first work there. After a week or so of getting acquainted with each other the team will play exhibition games with all the best teams in the South, arriving here just a day or so ahead of the opening time in April.

LIKE TEAM'S CHANCES.

In reply to questioning as what he thought of his team, Mr. Brush said: "I am very much pleased; more so than I was at this time a year ago. The team is stronger. They have already worked together, and besides there is harmony among the players. I cannot help but say I think a great

"Next spring, the Yankees will remain in Savannah two weeks and will then make a tour of the different cities in the South, where they will play exhibition games before returning home. Mathewson has heard nothing about Mathewson's alleged intention of quitting the club. I put no stock in it. For Mathewson was well treated by the New York Club this season and other seasons. I am sure he will stick in. As a fact, I was told a few days ago that Mathewson had signed a contract for next season," said Mr. Brush.

"We may sign one or two new play-

"Will you release any more players of your regular team?" was asked Mr. Brush.

"No. We will have the same players as we had last year with the exception of Jack Warner, who has been released to St. Louis."

"Why was Warner released?"

"We wanted to have a good hitting catcher, to alternate with Bowerman, and as Bresnahan is a better hitter than Warner, we saw where we could strengthen the team by making a catcher of Bresnahan and having Mike Donlin play regularly in centerfield in Bresnahan's place."

"Certainly not. When we release Devin we will release the entire club. Devin was not in the best shape last season, but as he is well and strong again there is not a chance of letting him go. He will play third base for me. I expect to see him make a better showing at that bag next year than he did last season."

"How many players have signed contracts for next season?"

"Let me see. There is Rowman

"Will Manager McGraw have the same absolute control of the men as he had last season?"

"Yes. He will have entire charge of the men. I will not interfere with him in any way and will also abide by everything he says. He is the whole thing and will be responsible for the team.
